

Bramble's Rules

If you take Bramble for a walk with a child can you, please follow the following procedures as at the moment whilst he is being trained as we all have to follow a consistent approach.

- He must wear his jacket (which is hanging up in the office).
- At the moment, any child is not allowed to be responsible for his lead. So you have to use two leads (again spare is in the office) so that you have one each or the adult has to use the lead.
- You have to take with you his clicker and treats-so that if he is doing what you ask of him correctly he has his treat and a click. If he is doing something wrong, then you need to click to distract and reward for correct behaviour.
- You also need to click and treat if he is toileting correctly. (And take the bags etc. from the office). This has to be disposed of in the outside bin for hygiene reasons.
- At the moment, whilst he is still training we have to offer this consistent approach.
- It would also be advisable to make sure you have read the policy/risk assessment.
